 Benefits of Phosphatidylcholine

Do not use if you are allergic to soy products.

Phosphatidylcholine is a nutrient essential for the formation and function of skin cells. All cell membranes contain phosphatidylcholine but these levels drop as we get older. Applying phosphatidylcholine can help to reverse the ageing process of your skin cells. Phosphatidylcholine also acts as a delivery system for other active ingredients.

Phosphatidylcholine is a soy based phospholipid composed of fatty acids, mineral acids and natural phytoestrogens which help to settle hormonal pimples and supply estrogen to prematurely ageing and mature skin.

Phosphatidylcholine helps to tighten crepey skin, improve elasticity, renew skin cells, soften, smooth and refine, reduce fine lines, reduce puffiness, deeply hydrate your skin, clear hormonal pimples and acne, shrink small sebaceous cysts and white heads, fade dark blotchy pigmentation, repair sun damage, protect your skin from dehydration, revitalise your complexion, nourish your skin with essential fatty acids, smooth and soften rough hands.

* Benefits of Zeolite

Zeolite is a powerful antioxidant which helps to slow the signs of ageing by trapping and neutralising wrinkle causing free radicals. Free radicals are unpaired molecules which cause cell damage to otherwise healthy cells.

Zeolite emits a negative charge which magnetically attracts and draws positively charged free radicals and toxic matter, into the pores and channels of its honeycomb structure. It is here that the chemical reaction which neutralises them takes place.

It is difficult to imagine, but each grain of zeolite contains thousands of these microscopic pores and channels. This huge internal space full of chemical activity is what makes zeolite the most effective cleansing, detoxifying and exfoliating mineral available to the beauty industry.

Zeolite has other benefits, too. Zeolite is soothing, its negative charge is calming, it has a slightly alkaline pH of 7.4 and it contains a large amount of calcium and magnesium. These characteristics help zeolite to soothe itchy skin. Zeolite mud of Zeolite Cream can be applied directly to the itchy area or you can have a luke warm zeolite bath to calm widespread itchy conditions like hives. Zeolite also reduces the swelling of bumps and sprains.

Zeolite also protects your skin. If you live, travel or work in a polluted atmosphere use zeolite in your cleansers, face masks and body washes to remove any environmental pollutants which have collected on your skin during the day.
